

South Texas Health System GME Consortium

McAllen, Texas

Why South Texas?

We are excited to announce that the South Texas Health System Emergency Medicine Residency Program will launch on July 1, 2025. In partnership with Texas A&M School of Medicine and supported by STHS resources, our program is dedicated to academic excellence, teamwork, and high-quality care. We are committed to helping our residents grow in a supportive environment that emphasizes evidence-based medicine, patient care, and wellness. Our goal is to prepare future emergency medicine physicians to excel in their careers and lead in the evolving healthcare landscape. We look forward to welcoming our inaugural cohort and shaping the next generation of healthcare leaders.
